A balance scale is shown against a dark background. The scale is suspended by a central point. It has three horizontal beams. The top beam is the longest and is supported by two short vertical poles. The middle beam is shorter and is supported by two medium-length vertical poles. The bottom beam is the shortest and is supported by two long vertical poles. Each beam has a banner hanging from it. The banners are white with bold text. The top banner is orange, the middle one is blue, and the bottom one is red. The scale is slightly tilted, with the right side being higher than the left.
